DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-11 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1-23 of copending Application No. 10498340. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both are claiming a illuminating arrangement for displaying lights on a game machine.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Objections

Claims 7-11 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim should refer to the claims in alternative only. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims have not been further treated on the merits. As per claim 7, is objected to because it is claiming the previous claims, where an independent claim is on its own and does not depend upon any other claim. Regarding claims 8-11 are objected to because they are dependant upon claim 7 wherein claim 7 is of improper form causing any claims dependant upon it improper as well.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1,3-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Winans et al. (US Pub #2002/0173354).

Regarding claim 1: Winans discloses a gaming machine illuminating arrangement, the illuminating arrangement including: a carrier; and a plurality of semiconductor illuminating elements arranged in a predetermined array on the carrier (pg. 1,2, parag. 0011).

Regarding claim 3: Winans discloses the arrangement of claim 1, in which the semiconductor illumination elements are in the form of light emitting diodes (LED's), (pg. 2, parag. 0016).

Regarding claim 4: Winans discloses the arrangement of claim 3, in which the LED's are arranged in a sequence of repeating groups on the strip (pg. 2, parag. 0013, 0015).

Regarding claim 5: Winans discloses the arrangement of claim 4, in which each group comprises a predetermined number of differently colored LED's (pg. 2, parag. 0013).

Regarding claim 6: Winans discloses the arrangement of claim 5 in which each group of LED's comprises LED's corresponding to the three primary colors (pg. 2, parag. 0018).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Winans in view of Koji Maruyama (JP408211361A). Winans teaches the arrangement of claim 1, in which the carrier is a strip of printed circuit board (PCB) carrying conductive traces for connecting the illuminating elements to a control means for supplying electrical power to the PCB, the control means being part of a controller of the gaming machine (pg. 4, parag. 0039). It is well known in the art to use PCB boards to mount and control LED displays as shown in the Koji reference. It is also well known to use LED's to display information on many type of devices, displaying color pictures, text, flashing lights etc.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Nagano (US Patent #6383073) discloses a gaming machine with a led display.

Cleaver et al. (US Patent #6592238) discloses a illumination device using LED's for a game display.

Okuno (US Patent #4298869) discloses a light emitting diode display
